Huawei's new energy storage site in Islamabad

Frankfurt, Germany - April 9, - Huawei Digital Power is proud to announce the successful conclusion of the FusionSolar C&I project in Islamabad. The project is a 100MW energy storage system, which will be the largest of its kind in the region. The system will be used to store energy from the solar panels during the day and release it at night, ensuring a constant supply of power. The project is a significant milestone for Huawei in the region and demonstrates the company's commitment to sustainable energy solutions.
